Eating the Life Safety Code Elephant One Bite at a Time - Fran Savard

9:15-10:15 a.m. Life Safety Code Manual - Putting it to Work for You - Kathy Kimmet

In March 2009 the Ohio Department of Health and the provider associations completed revision of the Life Safety Code Preventive Manual. The Preventive Maintenance Manual is intended for use by personnel of Ohio long-term care facilities to maintain and improve life safety conditions for the benefit of residents and employees. The manual is intended to provide information, "an overview," for those responsible for maintaining LSC compliance in facilities. Ms. Kimmet will review the manual and its use in providing direction for compliance.

10:15-10:30 a.m. Break

10:30 a.m.-12 p.m. The Ohio Fire Code and Long-term Care - Jeff Baucher

In addition to the 2000 edition of NFPA 101 (LSC), long-term care facilities are responsible for compliance with local and state fire and building codes. Trends and identified non-compliance issues will be the focus of this presentation. In addition, learn about changes to state and local codes that are expected in the future.

12-12:45 p.m. Networking Lunch

12:45-2:15 p.m. How to Develop a Preventive Maintenance Program that Works - Tim Enderle, Ed McCoy, Steve Wincek

Providers will share how they have maintained compliance with the life safety code - who has responsibility; which members of the management team provide assistance; how to develop a schedule that ensures compliance; how to keep track of documentation, maintenance logs, inspections and other important records and actions in sync with quality assurance.

2:15-2:30 p.m. Break

2:30-3:30 p.m. Current Ohio Department of Health Citations for Life Safety Code - Fran Savard

Discuss the trend and focus of the Ohio Department of Health relative to LSC or K Tag citations. Learn how to avoid these citations in reference to the LSC Preventive Manual.

3:30-4 p.m. Discussion and Questions

Discuss insights, best practices and problem solving issues that have been identified during the survey process. Discussion will be led by Fran Savard and the provider panel.
